(b) whether these projects are being executed on schedule;

(c) if not, what is the extent of delays and the amounts paid as commitment charges which is the indirect penalty for inefficiency in execution; and

(d) what steps are being taken to ensure that the World Bank aided National Highway projects are implemented or schedule, and without cost over-runs in the future ?

THE MINISTER OF SURFACE TRANSPORT (SHRI K. P. UNNI-KRISHNAN) : (a) A statement indicating the details of the projects is enclosed [See Appendix CLIV, Annexure No. 109]

(b) No, Sir.

(c) and (d) A number of factors has led to delays in the execution of these projects. These include: litigation; slow mobilisation of men; materials and machinery by the contractors; delays in import of sophisticated machinery for road construction by contractors due to procedural formalities; non-performance by he contractors necessitating initiation of the proceedings for re-bidding of the contractors etc. A sum of Rs. 7.44 crores has been paid upto 1989-90 a commitment charges. Several steps have been taken to improve performance on the above-referred projects. These include expulsion of non-performing contractors folic wed by re-award of work, grant of additional mobilisation advance etc. In addition, for future projects under consideration, steps have been taken to ensure better performance, by increasing the package sizes to attract more competent contractors, stricter criteria for prequalification of contractors etc.
